

The officers of Panther Psychology Club would like to invite you to expand your academic studies with a psychology-related extracurricular, one that will both adhere to your interest in psychology and fulfill your social appetite.

Panther Psychology Club was founded in the fall of 2004, with the outlook of providing psychology enthusiasts, like you, with a fun, out-of-class environment that still encouraged academic growth and immersion with people of similar interests. As a result, the club reflects the more social aspect of academic psychology. In the past, we have sponsored panel discussions, psych-related lectures, movie nights, game nights, and volunteer opportunities, in addition to some purely fun events like kayaking and football tailgating. All of these events were free of charge to our members.

*The officers would like to welcome you, and encourage you, to become a 2009-2010 member of the club. As a member, we are confident that you will receive a more well-rounded university experience, and you will surely contribute to the club's growth and future success.*

Please take a moment to look at our attached membership application. You can return this application, along with the $15.00 year-long membership fee, to any officer at any general body meeting that is held in the Martin Room, 4127 Sennott Square.

Have a great semester, and we hope to see you at our meetings!
